BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW.

More than a thousand years ago—
Shadows of time, how the days go by—
There was a man I used to know—
May seem strange, but you'll see it's so
After I tell you the reason why—
Worked in a brickyard, same as you
And all of us have to do;
Mixed in the trouble and worry and strife,
The mirth and the other things of life;
Stayed in the hopes and the pains and fears,
Kneaded the mud with his sweat and his tears,
Humanest mass that ever you saw.
"Poor brick!" said the man, "but I have no straw!"

Up to his knees in the miry pit,
A pygmy's way, but a giant's grit;
His back was a chain of throbbing aches,
Lifting the mold with his earthen cakes;
Shows rusty as hinges of steel,
Knees so lame he could hardly kneel;
And so stiff it would clog a plow
And couldn't be stirred with a wheel now;
Nights as short as the days were long;
Nothing seemed right, but everything wrong.
"Best I can do," said the man; "but, pshaw,
You can't make brick when you have no straw!"

Taskmasters pitiless lashed the man.
"Can't!" sobbed Weakness, but Courage cried,
"Can!"
"Don't!" said Despair, but Duty cried, "Do!"
"All right," said the man, "I'll worry her through!"
Can't do much, and I reckon you'll see
Brick won't be just what they ought to be;
Ain't nigh so good as I know I could make
If I just had straw; but you'll have to take
The best I can do for the work's own sake."

He finished his tale of brick and then
Went home to rest, and the sons of men
Looked on his perfect work and saw
He'd have spoiled the brick had he put in straw.
—Robert J. Burdette.

GREYHOUNDS.

They Are the Fleetest of All Four Footed Animals.

Comparatively few people realize of what remarkable speed dogs are capable. Some remarkable statistics in regard to this have been gathered by M. Dusolier, a French scientist.

After pointing out the marvelous endurance shown by little fox terriers who follow their masters patiently for hours while the latter are riding on bicycles or in carriages, he says that even greater endurance is shown by certain wild animals that are akin to dogs.

Thus the wolf can run between 50 and 60 miles in one night, and an arctic fox can do quite as well, if not better.

Nansen met one of these foxes on the ice at a point more than 70 miles northwest of the Sannikov territory, which is 480 miles from the Asiatic coast. Eskimo and Siberian dogs can travel 45 miles on the ice in five hours, and there is one case on record in which a team of Eskimo dogs traveled 6½ miles in 28 minutes.

According to M. Dusolier, the speed of the shepherd dogs and those used in hunting ranges from 10 to 15 yards a second. English setters and pointers hunt at the rate of 18 to 19 miles an hour, and they can maintain this speed for at least two hours.

Foxhounds are extraordinarily swift, as is proved by the fact that a dog of this breed once beat a thoroughbred horse, covering four miles in 6½ minutes, which was at the rate of nearly 18 yards a second.

Greyhounds are the swiftest of all four footed creatures, and their speed may be regarded as equal to that of carrier pigeons. English greyhounds, which are carefully selected and well cared for, are able to cover at full gallop a space between 18 and 23 yards every second.

How great an achievement this is may be judged from the fact that a thoroughbred horse rarely if ever exceeds 19 yards. Moreover, it is said that a hare at its greatest speed never goes faster than at the rate of 18 yards.

These interesting statistics are exciting much comment among sportsmen and other lovers of dogs, and the opinion is unanimous that M. Dusolier has fully proved the right of the greyhound to rank as the swiftest of the quadrupeds. Express engines only surpass them.—London Mail.

Tentative Interment.

A poor Scotchwoman lay dying, and her husband sat by her bedside. After a time the wife took her husband's hand and said:

"John, we're goin' to part. I have been a gude wife to ye, haven't I?" John thought a moment.

"Well, just middling like, Jenny, ye know," anxious not to say too much. Again the wife spoke.

"John," she said faintly, "ye maun promise to bury me in the auld kirkyard at Str'avon beside my mither. I could na rest in peace among unco' folk in the dirt and smoke o' Glasgow."

"Weel, weel, Jenny, my woman," said John soothingly, "we'll just try ye in Glasgow first, an' gih ye dinna be quiet we'll try ye in Str'avon."—Spare Moments.

Work.

Work in every hour, paid or unpaid. See only that thou workest, and thou canst not escape the reward. Whether thy work be fine or coarse, planting corn or writing epics, so only it be honest work, done in thine own approbation, it shall earn a reward to thy senses as well as to the thought. No matter how often defeated, you are born to victory. The reward of a thing well done is to have done it.—Emerson

The Advice Came Home to Roost.

The president of one of the prominent railway corporations in America was making a stirring address to an audience of young men and dwelt with particular emphasis on the necessity of making a good appearance.

"When you are looking for work," he said, "be careful that you are presentable. If you have only $24 in the world, spend $20 for a suit of clothes, $3.50 for a pair of shoes, 50 cents for a hair cut and shave. Then walk up to the job wherever it is and ask for it like a man."

This advice was greeted with great applause, and the railway president sat down amid a storm of cheers.

The very next morning a dapper looking young fellow walked into the outer office of the orator and, handing a note to the clerk, said, "Please give this to the president." The note read as follows:

"I have paid $20 for this suit of clothes, $3.50 for a pair of shoes and 50 cents for a hair cut and a shave. I have walked from Harlem, and I would like a job as conductor on your road."

He got the job.

Waste of Postage.

The lawyers were discussing the merits and demerits of a well known member of the New Orleans bar who had been gathered to his fathers, and one of the party, says the New Orleans Times-Democrat, recalled the time when he studied in the old man's office.

We had a copying clerk whose inefficiency continually worked the judge up to the point of explosion. One day a wire basket fell off the top of his desk and scratched his cheek. Not having any courtplaster, he slapped on three postage stamps and went on with his work.

A little later he had some papers to take to the United States court, and, forgetting all about the stamps, he put on his hat and went out.

As he entered the office the judge raised his head and fixed him with an astonished stare. The clerk stopped and looked frightened and finally asked:

"Anything—er—wrong, sir?"

"Yes, sir!" thundered the old gentleman. "You are carrying too much postage for second class matter."

Dangers of the Apothecary.

The distilled essential oil of almonds, which when diluted supplies the popular flavoring for sweets and confectionery known as "atafia," contains in its strongest form a sufficient percentage of hydrocyanic acid to make it highly dangerous. A young man who was executing an order by pouring it from a large bottle to a smaller one noticed that he had not put the label quite straight on the smaller bottle and took it off again. Before replacing the label he licked it to make sure of its sticking properly. But while pouring he had inadvertently let a drop or two trickle on the outside of the bottle where he had affixed the label. Then when he touched the label with his tongue he felt as if something shot along that member and also a jump of his heart. So he rushed to a tap, which was fortunately close at hand, and put his tongue under the running water. Never as long as he lived, he said, would he forget that poisoning sensation.—Chambers' Journal.

The Cat and the Tail.

Once upon a time a cat who prided herself on her wit and wisdom was prowling about the barn in search of food and saw a tail protruding from a hole.

"There is the conclusion of a rat," she said.

Then she crept stealthily toward it until within striking distance, when she made a jump and reached it with her claws. Alas, it was not the appendage of a rat, but the tail of a snake, who immediately turned and gave her a mortal bite.

Moral.—It is dangerous to jump at conclusions.

A Good Use For Old Graveyards.

There are now in London and its immediate neighborhood 360 public recreation grounds, varying in size from Epping forest, which, with Wanstead flats, is over 5,000 acres in extent, to little city gardens and playgrounds measuring an eighth or tenth of an acre. These include 100 plots of ground which have been used for interment, parish churchyards and other disused burial grounds, of which the largest is eleven acres and the smallest a few yards square.—Humanitarian.

Soldiers Are Like Children.

To the medical man the soldier is very like a child—that is to say, he suffers from precisely the same diseases as children. In any large army hospital you will find rows of patients down with measles, scarlatina, diphtheria, mumps and sometimes whooping cough. In fact, the soldiers' hospital is as like as can be to the children's hospital.

His Record as an Abstainer.

She—Are you a total abstainer, Colonel Blue Grass?
He—Yes, ma'am. I hain't touched water for 40 years.—Chicago News.

Hindrances to Success.

Many a man with great brain power and fine physique who started in life with good prospects has failed to attain great success because of little idiosyncrasies, peculiarities of speech or manner, things not in themselves vicious or wrong, but which render him disagreeable or unacceptable to those who have dealings with him.

If it were possible for us to write of all the little things which have cut down the average of our success and to calculate just how much each has contributed to the whole, it would be most helpful.

For example, one young man's advancement has been cut down 25 per cent by bad temper, a surly, disagreeable disposition; another's by carelessness in dress, an unkempt or slovenly appearance, and yet another's by a sharp tongue or an unkind habit of criticizing.

Many a brilliant and capable stenographer has failed to advance because she had disagreeable habits that annoyed her employer, who, while he recognized her ability, preferred a less able stenographer who had amiable and agreeable qualities. The lack of amiability has stood in the way of advancement of many an employee who wondered why he did not get along.—Success.

The Ear.

As delicate as the organ of vision is that of hearing, and as careful a watch should be kept upon it, so that no loss of that more exquisite sense may occur.

When several blind persons were questioned as to which they would rather do without, their visual organs or those of hearing, the majority declared in favor of hearing. We feel a compassion for the blind; for the deaf we are not often sympathetic. The spectacle of a sightless individual touches us to tears; that of one who cannot hear provokes almost a feeling of drollery. Yet no doubt the loss of one organ is as pathetic a thing as the loss of the other.

Many erroneous ideas still exist in the public mind that interfere seriously with the work of the skilled aurist. Too many people think that the ear is so delicate an organ that nothing whatever can be done to alleviate any distress arising therein and allow a trivial disorder that might be rectified by an aurist to bring about a case of partial deafness that settles into permanency.

Dirt In Dainty Carpets.

For housewives who pride themselves upon the spotless floor coverings The Druggists' Circular gives the following recipe for removing spots of dirt from carpets:

Make a suds with a good white soap and hot water and add fuller's earth to this until the consistency of thin cream. Have plenty of clean drying cloths, a small scrubbing brush, a large sponge and a pail of fresh water. Put some of the cleaning mixture in a bowl and dip the brush in it. Brush a small piece of the carpet with this; then wash with the sponge and cold water. Dry as much as possible with the sponge and finally rub with dry cloths. Continue this till you are sure that all the carpet is clean; then let it dry.

Joseph Jekyll's Repartee.

An attorney named Else, rather diminutive in his stature and not particularly respectable in his character, once met Jekyll. "Sir," said he, "I hear you have called me a pettifogger scoundrel. Have you done so, sir?" "Sir," said Jekyll, with a look of contempt, "I never said you were a pettifogger or a scoundrel, but I said you were 'little Else.'"

The following epigram was written on Dr. Letson, then a well known doctor:

When folks are sick and send for me,
I purges, bleeds and sweats 'em;
If after that they choose to die,
What's that to me? I Letson.
—Gentleman's Magazine.

Startled the Natives.

Herrera, the Spanish historian, says that Pizarro, when he landed in South America, owed his life and those of his companions to the fact that one of the party fell off his horse by accident. The natives had succeeded in cutting off the retreat of the Spaniards to their ships, when one of the riders was thrown. The Indians were so astonished at the dissolution of partnership that they took flight at once. They had supposed horse and man to be one animal.

Why Aim With One Eye?

Joskins—I say, old boy, this is my first day at shootin'. You might tell me in confidence what people shut one eye for when they're sightin' anything.

Hoskins—Oh, that's perfectly simple, my dear fellow. You see, if they were to shut both eyes they wouldn't be able to see anything.—Pick Me Up.

In Tartary onions, leeks and garlic are regarded as perfumes. A Tartar lady will make herself agreeable by rubbing a piece of freshly cut onion on her hands and over her countenance.

An English Explanation.

This is the way a prominent English paper explains it:

The president of the United States, who receives a salary of $10,000 a year, must pay for all the food consumed at the White House, and the expenses of getting up an elaborate state dinner are not small. Cigars and wines the president buys, and they must be of the best. He has to maintain his own equipage. The government, however, allows him a valet; also a clerk, who opens all his letters. All other personal servants must be engaged by the master and mistress of the White House.

Scandinavian English.

Sir Herbert Maxwell gives in his "Memories of the Months" the following copy of a beguiling advertisement set forth by a Scandinavian who could "spik Ingels" and who had a shrewd idea of luring tourists to his salmon river:

Look Her! Salmon! The honorable travelers are averted to, that undersigned, who lives in Fjorde pr. Vol. den Romsdals county, Norway, short or long time, hires out a good Salmon river. Good lodging finds. DIDRIK MAAN.

A Combination Tree.

A pine tree and a birch tree have grown so close together in Woolwich, Me., that one trunk serves for both, sending forth pine branches on one side and birch on the other. The union seems a happy one in spite of the fact that the two trees are as widely separated by the botanists as two well can be, and the gnarled branches of the pine embrace the birch in a most affectionate manner.

Handy Things to Carry.

Few people carry pocket scissors of the folding sort. Those that do never part with them. Convenient for manicure use, to cut a clipping from a paper at a moment's notice, a string, etc., they answer almost every purpose of the pocketknife and are much more convenient to handle. Give a person accustomed to their use a knife and the pocket scissors, and he will part with the former first.—Hardware.

So They Do, Some of Them.

The teacher had been giving a class of youngsters some ideas of adages and how to make them, and to test her training she put a few questions:

"Birds of a feather—do what?"
"Lay eggs," piped a small boy before anybody else had a chance to speak.

Unappreciative.

"You find spring water a very great advantage in dairying, I presume?"

"Oh, I don't know," said the milkman. "The average person buying milk doesn't know the difference between spring water and any other kind."—Detroit Journal.

River News.

Representative Kehoe has introduced a bill providing for the construction on the south shore of the Ohio river at Maysville an ice pier or harbor of refuge. Twenty-one thousand dollars is deemed necessary for the work.

At Cincinnati Constable Mungavin attached funds in the hands of the Cincinnati, Portsmouth, Big Sandy and Pomeroy Packet Company late Thursday at the suits of Jesse Edgington, G. C. Miller and J. E. Smith, who had claims respectively for $238 50, $295 and $265 against the steamer M. P. Wells, lately sold at the suit of other creditors.

The Christmas Attraction.

The Bronson Company is the Christmas attraction at the opera house, and will present two plays that have never been presented in this city, before. "A Royal Spy"—an interesting four act comedy, drama of French military life, will be the matinee bill. It is brimful of good climaxes and wholesome comedy. At night the sensational English drama, "Taken From Life," will be presented. Both plays are mounted with special scenery.

Seats are now on sale at Nelson's.

VOX POPULI.

[Danville Advocate.]

There's Benham, Ramsay and Maclay—
Who care's a darn what they may say
About the fight that July day
When old Cervera steamed away
From Santiago's famous bay?

The people sit in judgement, too,
To give the honor where 'tis due,
And recognize the man that blew
To kingdom come the Spaniard's crew.
And o'er the sea his wrecks did strew.

Among the names that can not die
His countrymen will place his high;
Though naval courts may pass it by
And to it justice may deny,
Posterity will write S-C-H-L-E-Y!

THE STATE LIBRARY.

It Is Second to None in the South in the Value of Its Volumes.

The biennial report of Miss Pauline Helm Hardin, the State Librarian, is now completed and in the hands of the printer. Like most of the other State officers, the Librarian sets forth the need of new quarters. She says:

"We have now on hand such a valuable accumulation of authorities that our library ranks second to none in the South, and this but emphasizes the crying need for more spacious quarters, that the books may be properly protected as well as displayed. Year by year the constant growth of the library has necessitated our appropriating space not set aside for that purpose, and in the basement of the Executive Building will be found the acts, journals, documents, etc. that should have a place in the library proper, while all available space in the halls of the legislative building is likewise utilized. Notwithstanding the inconvenience necessarily entailed by cramped quarters, the library is in a better condition than it has been in the history of the State."

"The soldiers," says the Librarian, "mutilated many volumes of the acts representing the early legislative sessions of Kentucky, and files of newspapers extending over three-quarters of a century were also injured. When complaint was made to the officers they did all they could to remedy the matter, but the loss to the State is more than a pecuniary one."

Miss Hardin also urges the imperative need of a reading room for the comfort and convenience of the lawyers.

A NEW PLAN.

Proposed by Prohibitionists for Regulating the Liquor Question in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Dec. 18.—The Prohibitionists of Kentucky will present a new plan for the regulation of the liquor traffic to the next Legislature. The plan is outlined by ex-Congressman John D. White, who has been conferring with prominent Prohibitionists throughout the State with the purpose of formulating a bill. Under the present law all territory is open to retail liquor dealers except where prohibition has been voted. The new plan proposes that this arrangement shall be reversed, and that the saloon shall be prohibited except where it is specifically permitted to exist. Local option is to be allowed, as under the present law, and the intention is to give the larger unit the power to regulate. That is, that when a saloon shall fail to obtain a majority of the votes in a county no township or municipality in the county shall have the power to permit the sale of liquor within its own boundaries. The Prohibitionists hope that eventually a vote in the entire State will prohibit the sale of liquor in Kentucky.

ALL the members of the Schley Court of Inquiry put together never did one-half the service for the country during the war with Spain that Admiral Schley accomplished.

THE Republican platform of 1900, referring to trusts, said:

"We condemn all conspiracies and combinations intended to restrict business, to create monopolies, to limit production, or to control prices; and favor such legislation as will effectively restrain and prevent all such abuses, protect and promote competition and secure the rights of producers, labor and all who are engaged in industry and commerce."

But now, according to the Republican policy as defined by Mr. Roosevelt, these conspiracies are not to be condemned; they are to be regulated, says the Commoner. And in justification of the plan of publicity towards trusts, Mr. Roosevelt says:

"There would be no hardship in such supervision. Banks are subject to it and in their case, it is now accepted as a simple matter, of course."

The Republican party, however, never found it necessary to say, "We condemn all banks." Prior to election day the Republican party pretended to regard trusts as conspiracies, but now the conspiracies have suddenly been transformed into legitimate business interests in the regulation of which great care must be exercised lest injustice be done.

KENTUCKY PRISONS.

Income Now in Excess of Expenses at Frankfort Pen—Deficiency at Eddyville Greatly Reduced.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 20.—The fourth annual report of the Prison Commissioners was filed with Gov. Beckham this afternoon.

It shows that the income from the Frankfort penitentiary is $11,000 in excess of its expenses, and that the deficiency at the Eddyville penitentiary has been reduced to $5,000, or $4,000 less than it was under Republican rule.

The Commissioners ask that the Legislature make appropriations aggregating $83,000 for the building of a new prison hospital and other needed improvements.

Fugitive Taylor Falls a Victim to a Sharper.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., December 20.—William H. Dye, a promoter, was committed to jail to-day, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from W. S. Taylor, the Kentucky fugitive, and Reuben Miller, another Kentuckian. Dye was commissioned to secure oil leases in Northern Indiana, which he did, representing, it is said, that he paid $1 per acre for 236 acres. Taylor alleges he found that the leases cost Dye but $1, and the prosecution followed.

INSURANCE MAN'S TROUBLES.

Lexington Agent Who Is "Off" Mentally Found at Lewisburg, But Escapes From Guard.

Mr. S. L. Myers, the Lexington insurance man whose mental troubles were mentioned in Saturday's BULLETIN, was found Saturday night at Lewisburg by Policemen Ort and Tolle, who were sent out by Chief of Police Donovan. The latter had received word that there was an unknown man at Lewisburg acting queerly and sent the officers to bring him in.

Mr. Myers is suffering from temporary derangement as a result of overwork. He is an Oddfellow and the officers of DeKalb Lodge placed Mr. Charles Vicroy in charge of him until this morning, when officers were to take Myers back to Lexington. The unfortunate man was placed in a room at the Central Hotel. About 11 o'clock, while Mr. Vicroy was absent from the room a short time, Myers climbed through the transom and escaped from the building, by going out the rear entrance. His disappearance was soon discovered, but no clue has yet been found of him.

Before death the whites of their eyes become almost blood red, showing that the brain is affected. The trouble is attributed to their eating blasted corn in the fodder fed them. THE BEE HIVE

THE BIG STORE! THE BIG STORE!

ALL UNDER ONE ROOF!

The convenience of having a big store like THE BEE HIVE to deal in at extreme winter weather like we are now having was proven yesterday by the crowds coming here, for they all knew that whatever gift they intend buying for either man, woman or child, could be found under one roof at THE BEE HIVE.

A gentleman from Cincinnati remarked yesterday: "I don't want to make you feel bad, but I must say that there were more people in your store than all the other stores in town put together." He was surprised!

He didn't know that this was The People's Store.

He didn't know that what we sell for 25c. others ask as high as $1 at Xmas time.

He didn't know that we give money back if purchase isn't satisfactory.

He didn't know that we sold nice books for 15c.

He didn't know we take pleasure in pleasing.

He didn't know that the 25c. table was the talk of the town.

He didn't know that we had a Doll room for the little folks.

He didn't know that we carry 12,000 Handkerchiefs for Xmas sale.

He didn't know that you could get an Aluminum Cigar Case for 25c.

He didn't know that you could get a beautiful Pin Tray for 10c.

In fact he didn't know—like you all know—THE BEE HIVE was for the people, of the people and by the people at all times and at Christmas times.

TELEPHONE NEWS.

The Fayette and Maysville Companies Buy Franchises Sold Saturday.

Cost of the Proposed Mutual System Said to be Greatly Underestimated.

Telephone franchises over certain of the main turnpikes of the county, with their branch roads, were sold at public auction Saturday by Sheriff Perrine, under orders from the Fiscal Court. The franchise is for the period of twenty years and is not an exclusive one.

The Maysville Telephone Company became the purchaser of the franchises over the Maysville and Lexington pike and the Hill City pike, paying $46 for the former and $5 for the latter. The franchise over the Mt. Sterling pike was sold to the Fayette Home Telephone Company of Lexington for $31.

No bid was made for any of the franchises by the parties interested in the proposed mutual system in this county. As stated in the BULLETIN Saturday they will petition the Fiscal Court to reject the bids made by the other companies and offer the franchises again in a month or so. Members of the Maysville company, in discussing the matter, said: "All we desire in the matter is fair play. The franchise we ask is not an exclusive one, and will not prevent any other company from securing a similar franchise at any time along any road over which they wish to operate. We are endeavoring to give the people of Maysville and Mason County the very best telephone service possible, and have gone to quite an outlay recently in improving our system."

"We have effected arrangements with the independent United States Company, and will in the spring establish connection with their system throughout Ohio and Indiana. The connection will be made at Aberdeen, and we will put in a system at that place which will be connected directly with the Maysville exchange, and our patrons in Maysville will have use of the Aberdeen system without extra charge and the Aberdeen patrons will have the use of the Maysville system without extra charge. This applies also to all our patrons on our lines throughout the county. They will have direct connection with the Maysville and Aberdeen systems, and patrons in the two cities will have connection with our county lines, all without extra charge. Some of the county lines do not belong to us, and of course we have to pay for any service over those lines, and collect this small charge from the party using the service."

"What we desire to make plain is that all of our patrons in Maysville, Aberdeen and along the country lines we own are entitled to the service over our country lines and in this city and Aberdeen without any charge over and above the annual rate."

"We are endeavoring to give the people

You will favor us greatly by not putting off selecting your purchases until a day or two before Christmas. The rush will be tremendous. Avoid it and come early.

the very best telephone service possible and at as low a rate as possible."

The poor service over some independent country lines, it was stated, is due simply to the fact that the lines are "overloaded." A good system is possible only with full metallic service.

In regard to the cost of the proposed mutual system, parties interested in it have stated that it would require about $5,000 to establish it. A gentleman who has had years of experience in the business says the cost will be nearer $25,000 if the promoters expect to have a system that will give any satisfaction.

The Fayette Home Company that bid for the franchise over the Mt. Sterling pike is establishing a long distance service with Central Kentucky, Louisville and the Southwestern part of the State. They will connect with Maysville over the Fleming pike.

CINCINNATI TOBACCO MARKET.

Burley Sales Closed For the Year—Offerings Last Week Lightest For Months.

No sales were held Friday, and the burley leaf market has closed for the year to be resumed, after the holiday recess, Tuesday, January 7.

The offerings during the past week were the lightest for many months, due to the fact that as usual at this season of the year the large manufacturing buyers were practically out of the market.

The sales as a whole were irregular, and prices easier on red tobaccos, but continued strong and firm in the color types, which are in scant supply. An active demand developed during the week for good old scrap, which sold up to $3.90 per 100 pounds. The low grades under 7 cents showed a slight decline from last week's quotations, and there was also a slight shading in prices on good and medium leaf.

There was a fair sprinkling of new tobacco on the breaks at all the warehouses, but, generally speaking, it was poor in quality, lacking color and body and of a nondescript character, although there were a few packages of the better grade.

The offerings were not large enough to form an estimate of the character of the new crop, but manufacturers are hoping that it will improve in quality later on.

The offerings of old tobacco were 391 hhd's and averaged $7.57 per 100 lbs., as against $8.24 for the 1,186 hhd's, last week and $8.01 for the 742 hhd's in the same week last year.

The 66 hhd's of new tobacco averaged $5.69 per 100 lbs., as against $4.89 for the 21 hhd's, last week and $6.11 for the 504 hhd's in the corresponding week of 1900.

A lazy liver may be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. A stick is all right for the back of a lazy man. But it would be a savage as well as a stupid thing to beat a weary man or a starving man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging liver it is a great mistake to lash it with drastic drugs. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred a torpid or sluggish liver is but a symptom of an ill-nourished body, whose organs are weary with overwork. Let your liver alone. Start with the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in proper working order, and see how quickly your liver will become active and energetic. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.
